THE SCRANTON STATE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

The Scranton State School for the Deaf was founded in 1882 by J. M. Koehler, a deaf man, and is located in the northeast section of the city of Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Originally supported through private contributions, the first class of eight deaf children expanded rapidly and so did the need for greater facilities and increased support. In 1915, the school became a fully State-owned and operated facility, the only one of its kind in Pennsylvania.

The campus consists of an academic and residential complex, dining facilities, physical education and recreational facilities and an infirmary located on ten acres of land donated by the Pennsylvania Coal Company.

A Board of Trustees appointed by the Governor provides guidance and direction to the school. The Board is comprised of professionals in education, business, medicine, and the community who are genuinely interested in education of the deaf.

SSSD has recently concluded the celebration of it's 100th year of service to the deaf communities of Northeastern Pennsylvania and is looking forward to continued service under it's new mandate as a Regional Resouce Center on Deafness.

ESDAA

The Eastern Schools for the Deaf Athletic Association began in 1932. Since its beginning 48 years ago, the tournament is the oldest event of its kind in the United States. The Association started with eleven charter member schools and they were American. Kendall, Lexington Avenue, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, St. Joseph's, Virginia and Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf.

Since then there have been several membership changes as schools' programs have changed, schools closed, and geographical locations made it impossible for participation. In 1979 the Scranton State School for the Deaf was ecstatic when voted into the Association as a member. Without a question the various tournaments till the present day are the highlights of the sport seasons for hundreds of student athletes who have participated in the games and activities of the different tournaments throughout the years.

For many years competition was a single tournament. In 1961 the Association was divided into Division I and II, with each school competing with schools of comparable size within its own divisions at the same tournament site. In 1970, due to re-admission of schools, the Association decided to have separate division tournaments at separate sites so that the accommodation of so many athletes at one site could be avoided.

In addition to boys basketball, the E.S.D.A.A. also sponsors annual tournaments in cheerleading, girls basketball, girls softball, soccer, track and field, volleyball, and wrestling.

The Scranton State School for the Deaf is pleased to host our very first E.S.D.A.A. boys basketball and cheerleading tournament. The first of its kind in our school's history. On behalf of our entire school we welcome, athletes, coaches and visitors of the Division II teams.

WELCOME

The staff members and the students of the Scranton State School for the Deaf join me in welcoming the teams and their supporters to the 51st Annual Boys' Basketball and Cheerleading Tournament of the Eastern Schools for the Deaf Athletic Association.

It is indeed a privilege to host the 51st ESDAA Boys' Tournament at the Scranton State School for the Deaf and we look forward to participation in similar competition elsewhere in Division II of the Association.

We wish to thank each and everyone who has played a part in the planning and implementation of this tournament. The Scranton State School for the Deaf Benefit Association, the Parent-Teachers Association and the Hearing Impaired United Public Supporters have been valuable partners in making this tournament possible. The Student Council and the Junior NAD Chapter have contributed hours of work to make this venture a success. To all of these friends, many thanks!

The games will be well played, I am sure, and sportsmanship will be very much in evidence. May the best team win!
